EUROPEAN NEWS.

Partial Success of Shouvaloff's Mission--Meeting of the Congress Almost Certain.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, May 23.—Count Schouvaloff will call on Lord Salisbury to-day.

A despatch to the Standard from St. Petersburgh says, Prince Gortschakoff is better, and hopes to attend the Congress which is thought certain.

The Daily News' correspondent at St. Petersburg says the opinion prevails that Count Schouvaloff takes to London instructions containing the elements of a friendly and decisive solution of the question at issue. The secrecy maintained by him will continue until the government receives his answer from London, which is not to be telegraphed but sent by courier. Nothing certain will be known before next week.

The Agence Russe of St. Petersburg also declares there will be no positive intelligence regarding the result of Count Schouvaloff's mission before next week.

A Vienna despatch to the Times reports that General Korsakoff, Governor General of Bulgaria, has issued a proclamation announcing his appointment by the Czar, and that he is about to carry out the autonomatic organization of the country, and prepare for the election of a prince. As yet, he says, it is necessary to employ Russians versed in administration, but when the organization is complete Bulgarians will also be employed.

The Daily Telegraph's Vienna correspondent says, I hear on trustworthy authority that although General Schouvaloff is the bearer of propositions, he has not obtained all he desired. Nevertheless it is believed he succeeded to a certain extent.

The supplementary estimate for the expenses of the Indian expeditionary force issued amount to $1,750,000. The navy estimate for the transportation of Indian troops has also issued $1,990,000.

It is authoritatively stated that Count Schouvaloff brings from the Czar counter proposals couched in conciliatory terms proposing that all questions pertaining to European Turkey be submitted and treated by the proposed European Congress, and that the questions relating to Turkey in Asia be made the subject of a separate convention between England and Russia alone.

A Destructive Rain Storm.

By telegraph to the News.

DENVER, COL., May 23.—A terrific storm of rain fell over a large area of Douglass and Elpaso counties in this State yesterday afternoon. It is believed to have been most violent along the spur of the Rocky Mountains, which separates the head waters of the Arkansas and Platte rivers. Cherry Creek, which empties into the Platte river at Denver, and which is ordinarily dry, was suddenly deluged at one o'clock this morning, and in less than an hour the entire western portion of the city was flooded. Seven bridges were swept away, and a large amount of other property was destroyed.

Owing to the efficiency and industry of the fire department the entire population of the district devastated was aroused, and warned in time for escape, and it is now believed that no lives have been lost in this city other than that of an unknown man, whose body was found in a freight car, where he had probably been asleep. The flood involved several other streams on either side of the divide, and the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad lost a bridge near Colorado Springs, interrupting the running of trains on this end of the road to-day. Three bridges were swept away on the Kansas Pacific. A freight train on that road, containing eighteen cars, broke through the bridge over Kiowa River, burying with it John A. Baker, the engineer, and Frank Selden and John Platt, firemen.

The debris of the drift from Cherry Creek lodged against the Colorado Central Railroad bridge across the Platte river, and forced out a portion of the supports. This road also sustained considerable damage on its Cheyenne divisions, but probably its trains and those of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad will move regularly to morrow afternoon.

Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention.

By Telegraph to the News.

PITTSBURG, May 23.—The Democratic State Convention reassembled at 9 o'clock, and the report of the Committee on contested seats having been made and the contestants seated. Permanent organization was effected by the election of Hon. Chas. R. Buckalew permanent president. Mr. Sowden, of Lehigh, obtained recognition and moved that after the nomination of Governor, the Convention proceed to ballot for Lieutenant Governor, this being contrary to the regular order of nominating was objected to, and the yeas and nays being ordered the motion was defeated, yeas 121, nays 125. It was then moved to lead the nominations with that of Supreme Judge. It was rejected, and the chair announced that the regular order would be adhered to, and that the convention would proceed to ballot for Governor, but that he would first recognize the chairman of the committee on resolutions, and Mr. Wallace ascending the platform made his report. The following is the first part of the platform:—

"The Democracy of Pennsylvania unanimously declare that the Republican party, its measures, and its men, are responsible for the financial distress, the misery and want, that now exist. It has had control of the legislation of the country, and has enacted and perpetuated a policy that has enriched the few and impoverished the many. Its system of finance has been one of favors to moneyed monopoly; of unequal taxation; of exemption of classes; of high rates of interest; and of remorseless contraction which has destroyed every enterprise that gave employment to labor. Its present hold upon the federal power was secured by fraud, perjury, and forgery. Its laws are unjust, and its practices are immoral; they distress the people, and destroy their substance.

The only remedy for these evils is in an entire change of policy and the dethronement of those in power, and we resolve that the further contraction of the value of United States legal tender notes is unwise and unnecessary. They should be received for customs duties and re-issued as fast as received. Gold, silver, and United States legal tender notes at par therewith, are the just basis for paper circulation. A close connection of the Federal Government with the business interests of the people through national banks, tends to monopoly and centralization, but an unchanging system of uniformity of notes, security of the note-holders, and protection of the capital invested, should be provided for. Treasury notes issued in exchange for bonds bearing a low rate of interest is the best form in which the credit of the government can be given to paper currency.

Labor and capital have equal demands upon and equal responsibilities to law. Commerce and manufactures should be encouraged and that steady employment and fair wages may be yielded to labor, whilst safety of investment and a moderate return for its use belong to capital. Violence or breaches of order in support of the real or supposed rights of either should be promptly suppressed by the strong arm of law.

The Republican party by its legislation in 1872, which reduced the tariff upon bituminous coal from one dollar and five to seventy-five cents per ton, and upon iron, steel, wood, metals, paper, glass, leather and all manufactures of each of them 10 per cent., struck a fatal blow at the industries and labor of Pennsylvania. The public lands are the common property of the people and they should not be sold to speculators nor granted to railroad or other corporations, but should be reserved as homesteads for actual settlers. Our public debt should be held at home and the bonds representing it ought to be of small denominations in which the savings of the masses may be safely invested, Thorough investigation into the electoral frauds of 1876 should be made, fraud should be exposed, truth vindicated, and criminals punished, but we oppose any attack upon the presidential title as dangerous to our institutions and fruitless in its results.

The platform was unanimously adopted.

The Convention proceeded to ballot. Andrew H. Dill, of Union, was nominated for governor on the third ballot; H. P. Ross of Montgomery, was nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court on the first ballot.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 23.—In the House, last night, Butler's bill to supercede all newspaper advertising for the Government by the publication of an Official Advertiser, passed. It shall be published weekly and sent to subscribers free through the mail. and is to be distributed free of costs to every public library and to the clerks of the District Courts, to county clerks etc., The work to be done by the Public Printer, vote 109 to 77.

SENATE—Windom, of Minnesota, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Legislative, Judicial and Executive appropriation bill with several amendments. Placed on the calendar.

Johnson, of Virginia, introduced a bill to authorize the West Point Commercial Company of Virginia to do business in foreign countries. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The House Committee on Rules presented a resolution that the amendments to the appropriation bills, made by the Senate, should be referred to the Committee of the Whole. A spirited debate followed, the opponents holding that it was a device to defeat the will of the majority, and especially aimed to defeat the river and harbor bill. The resolution was tabled.

HOUSE.—The army appropriation bill occupied exclusively the attention of the House to-day.

The amendment offered by Throckmorton, of Texas, making the strength of the army 2,500 instead of 20,000 men, was carried by a majority of ten. All the Texas members, except Reagan, voting with the solid Republican vote for the amendment. This was in the Committee of the Whole, and it has yet to run the gauntlet of a vote by yeas and nays in the House.

The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill as reported to the Senate amends the House bill by restoring certain salaries, and non-concurs in the provision of the bill to abolish the fourth and fifth Auditors of the Treasury.

The Postoffice Committee of the House agreed to a bill requiring postmasters appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate to report monthly. Others may report quarterly.

SENATE.—The District of Columbia bill occupied the Senate to-day.

Confirmations—John H. Smyth, Minister to Liberia.

A Fire in Constantinople.

By Telegraph to the News.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 23.—A fire last night within the Precincts of the sublime Porte destroyed the greater portion of the buildings, including the Ministers of Justice and of the Council of State. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Grand Vizierate, and the Archive were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown. It is believed to have been accidental.

LONDON, May 23.—Count Schouvaloff had an interview with Lord Salisbury, the Foreign Secretary, to-day.

Financial.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, May 23.—The Times this morning in its financial articles says, three months' bank bills are discounted at rates varying from 2 to 2¼ per cent., the latter being probably the extreme. French houses are stated to be taking six months' bills at a fraction over 2 per cent., and their competition entirely overmasters London bankers. The Bank of England's rate of discount is 3 per cent.

WAKE COUNTY LETTER.

Depredations of the Foxes--Cotton, Grain and Fruits--Politics.

(Correspondence of the News.)

SWIFT CREEK, May 23d.

Your correspondent's time has been so fully occupied in defending his sheep and young pigs from the flock or drove of foxes which have infested this community for the last few days that he has paid but little attention to making his report.

DESTRUCTION OF PIGS AND SHEEP.

The number is variously estimated from 18 to 26, old and young, and hunt nightly together making game of lambs, pigs and poultry. I would enumerate some of the depredations they have committed but I am sure it would occupy too much space in the colums of the News. Our pack of hounds of six will not try to attack them any more, and curs and bull dogs stand no chance. Four or five have been killed with shotguns but they are very wary. Send us a huge pack of hounds.

THE STORM OF TUESDAY.

The storm of Tuesday did us no serious damage, though it was light compared with that in your city and adjoining township. There was a slight intermingling of hail with the rain and much wind.

COTTON, GRAIN AND FRUIT CROPS.

Cotton looks a little dog-eared and the stem under ground where the roots have not put forth has more or less rot. I think if the weather continues warm it will recover itself. Aspiring farmers have made good headway chopping out and siding their cotton crops. Corn on the highlands looks remarkably well, the weather having been propitious for it. Oats and wheat received a little shock from the bluster of yesterday. The most of fruits are doing well and promise an abundant crop outside of nectarines, pears and pineapples.

POLITICAL.

Our township has taken no advanced step in their selection of candidates to name before the county convention. Among your legal fraternity I hear the names of Snow for the Senate; W. H. Bledsoe, E. R. Stamps, Col. Walter Clark, Fab. H. Busbee, &c., &c., for the Commons, but I cannot report any decided preference as a unanimous expression. I believe we farmers make the preference and who among our own clan will or wants to be the standard bearer is unknown to your correspondent. S. T. G.

THE ATLANTA CONFERENCE.

Specially Reported for the News.

ATLANTA, GA., May 22d, 1878.

NINETEENTH DAY.

The afternoon session yesterday was entirely taken up with the discussion of the publishing house question. The most of the majority report was adopted. In the midst of the discussion, Rev. E. A. Yates, of North Carolina, spoke in advocacy of discontinuing the manufacturing department of the Publishing House, having offered an amendment to discontinue it. The amendment was lost.

A personal attack was made on Dr. Redford on yesterday by Dr. Harrison and a Mr. Mellin, of Mississippi, a lay delegate. Dr. Redford announced that that he would reply to these attacks when an opportunity was offered. It was too late for him to do so then.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Conference convened at 9 a. m., and was opened with religious services by Dr. A. P. Waterfield of Tennessee. Bishop McTyiere presided, and he is without question, the best presiding officer in the College of Bishops.

A memorial to the United States Congress in regard to the claim of the church of the United States, was prepared by a committee and adopted by the Conference.

Several standing committees presented reports which were adopted, none of them of special importance.

A letter, in answer to the fraternal letter received by this Conference, from the British Conference, was prepared by the Committee on Fraternal Correspondence, and ordered to be forwarded to the next General Conference of the British Church.

Arrangements were made for a Woman's Missionary Society.

Is was resolved to send two fraternal delegates to the next General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada.

DR. REDFORD SPEAKS.

The report of the committee in regard to the Publishing House was taken up, and Dr. Redford defended himself against the attacks made on him yesterday. His explanations were satisfactory to all unprejudiced minds. His management has been a failure, but so far as we can see, he has preserved unsullied his christian character, and done what but few men could have done. Pending his address the hour for the special order arrived, which was the reception of

THE COLORED FRATERNAL DELEGATES.

At 12 M., Gov. Colquitt escorted Rev. Mr. Gaines, of Georgia, and Rev. Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, the fraternal delegates to this Conference from the African Methodist Episcopal Church of America, into the conference room and introduced them to Bishop McTyiere, who was in the chair. Bishop McTyiere introduced them to his colleagues and then to the Conference. These two colored gentlemen then addressed the Conference, and they did well. Their addresses were eloquent and impressive, and many a tear was shed as they spoke. I will send you copies of their addresses. Every paper North and South ought to publish them. They will do good.

PERSONAL.

Prof. O. W. Carr, of Trinity, N. C., Revs. J. A. Cunninggim and P. A. Carraway, of North Carolina, and Capt. F. C. Robbins, of North Carolina, have all gone home, and the remainder of us will be on in a few days. R.

The Supreme Judgeship in the West.

Correspondence of the News.

FRANKLIN, N. C., May 20, 1878.

"A lawyer of the 12th District," writing from this place, on the 10th inst., speaks truly, when he says, "the virtuous and good Democrats, will earnestly support," &c., Judge Schenck for Associate Justice. But Judge Schenck is not our first choice. It is true, this and most, if not all the counties west of Buncombe, have declared for Judge Schenck. But you know how this is. Judge Schenck was and is holding our courts in the west, and a few men have run the machine. Had any other Democratic Judge been on the circuit, and an aspirant for the Supreme Bench, he would have fared as well.

The truth is just simply this: if Judge Schenck is nominated, we will support him, but of Buncombe, is the choice of the west, ten to one, it matters not who opposes, and your Lawyer knows this.

DEMOCRAT.

THE REVIVAL OF MOIETIES.

The Infamous Sherman Again Backs on his Record.

Baltimore Sun.

It was reserved for Secretary Sherman to recommend to Congress the revival of the old and obnoxious system of paying moieties to informers for the detection of frauds on the revenue. How that system often worked great injustice up to the time of its abolition, in 1874, everybody acquainted with mercantile affairs well knows. Its tendency was to encourage clerks and employes in commercial houses to become spies over the business transactions of their employers; to promote extortion on the part of revenue officers; to harass and cripple importers by the summary seizure of their books and papers, and to mulct them in heavy damages for merely technical and unconscious violations of law. Yet Mr. Sherman advocates the revival of moieties and extending the system to all classes of citizens whose cupidity might tempt them to assume the odious office of secret detectives. He turns his back upon his own utterances on the subject when, as a Senator of the United States, with the facts of the doings of Jayne and his associates fresh in his memory, and with the bill to repeal the system of moieties before him—a bill that was passed in the Senate by a vote of 39 to 1—he said:

"After a careful and conscientious examination of this bill, aided by many merchants interested in foreign trade, aided also by custom-house officers whose testimony is on record pro and con here on this subject, aided by private communication with merchants for and against this bill, aided by the Treasury Department, aided by mutual consideration in committee, the committee on finance reported this bill unanimously, every amendment having been fairly and fully considered."

INDIANA NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Convention to Nominate a State Ticket and Prepare a Platform.

Indianapolis Special.

The National State Convention meets to nominate a State ticket and formulate principles. The call for the convention provides for 1,075 delegates, but not over one-third that number will be present. The platform will reaffirm the principles of the Toledo Convention, and probably contain a plank protesting against being understood as in favor of repudiation in any form. It will contain a demand for a usury law and a large exemption from execution. There is not much talk about candidates. A ticket composed in part of the following is probable: Jackson H. Wright, of Indianapolis, Secretary of State. He was fomerly a Republican, and is at the head of the Labor Party in this city. Eden H. Fisher, of Kendallville, Auditor. He also is an old Republican, has been Auditor of Noble county, and in 1868, came within an ace of being nominated by the Republicans for Auditor of State. He is known as the no-legged soldier. The Treasurer lies between J. J. Shield, of Jackson county, and Deloss Thompson, of Shelby county, both of them of Democratic antecedents. J. O. Gwin, of New-Albany, also a Democrat, is spoken of for Attorney General.

THE ANGEL IN THE CLOUD.

Poetical Works of the Late Edwin W. Fuller, of Franklin.

Louisburg Times.

A new edition of this work has just been published and thrown upon the public. Two former editions have already been exhausted, and this third one is published to supply the demand. This latest edition contains a memoir of the distinguished poet, and also fifteen or twenty shorter poems, hitherto unpublished, and which are now appended to the main production. Of these appended poems, it may be justly said that they are a cluster of sparkling gems, that deck the shore of "The Angel in the Cloud." They have the warm glow and the sterling glitter of real genius. The public will enjoy a rich treat in the perusal of these gems "of purest ray." In some of them is grandeur; in others, pathos; in all, beauty. When one reads the "Lines Written after a Hemorrhage from the Lungs," if he should allow his feelings to figure in his words, he would finish the perusal with this expression upon his lips: Beautiful, beautiful! The "Last Look," written soon after the death of the golden haired, bright-eyed and sweet little child, whose fingers, even now, as she sits by her father's side in the angelic choir, strike the strings of heavenly harps, portrays, in the burning words of the poet's soaring fancy, his broad and deep love for his fair and sweet little daughter. "Out in the Rain" is also a poem, the burden of which is the author's tender affection for the departed little innocent. When you read these two last mentioned, you cannot suppress the involuntary exclamation: How that man loved his child!

These gems along the sea shore, as it were, will be in the public eye, treasures of especial value, in addition to their native and intrinsic worth, because some of them give a picture of the author's inner life. In them we trace the course of the "smooth current of domestic joy," and as we read, we see the affectionate husband and the loving father, the gifted poet, and the sterling man.

To point out, however, the finer beauties of the different creations of this master-mind, comes not within the province of our present object.

This task we must reserve for a series of subsequent articles.

Our present purpose was simply to state, through the columns of the Times, that a new edition had been published, but we were incidentally drawn aside to descant upon the rare beauties and exquisite charms of some of the shorter poems which have been incorporated in the new publication.

There is also prefixed a portrait of the author, at a time when, as to general health and physical development, he was in his best and palmiest day.

Well Merited.

We are permitted to give publication to the following correspondence, which speaks for itself. It is to be regretted that Dr. Satchwell will not consent to accept a nomination for the Legislature. He is one of the best friends that his own county has ever had and North Carolina knows no truer or more devoted son. The sentiments he has expressed in his reply will awaken a response in many an honest heart:

BURGAW, N. C., May 6th, 1878.

Dr. S. S. Satchwell:

DEAR SIR:—The people of Pender county are anxious to show you their appreciation of your efforts in their behalf whenever it was in your power to do anything for them publicly or privately. They are determined to nominate you for the Legisture if you will consent to accept a nomination.

We can never forget, sir, your untiring efforts in the formation and early management of our infant county. If you will only allow us to nominate you for this honored position we believe you, as only you, can redeem the county from the thraldom of Radical rule, and that in the General Assembly you could do much to promote the welfare and advance the best interests of your native State which you love so well. Your well known abilities and patriotic devotion, rising unselfishly, as occasion suggests, above local influences and sectional feelings when the reputation of the State and the best good of of the entire people are involved, point to you as the man to represent Pender in the next Legislature.

We believe we express the wishes of the people generally in regard to this matter, and we therefore hope you will show that self-sacrificing spirit which you have always manifested when called upon by your friends and now yield to their earnest soliictations.

With the kindest and best wishes for yourself, whether in public or private life, we remain, truly yours,

ROBERT BRYANT, JR.

ROCKY POINT, N. C., May 8, 1878.

GENTLEMEN: I tender you my grateful acknowledgments for your generous and appreciative letter. This testimony of neighbors who have known me longest and who know me well is surely encouraging. It is a sad commentary upon the lowered condition of society since the war that purity of motives and integrity of purpose and of conduct, whether in public or private life, afford no protection against the assaults of envy or the envenomed shafts of detraction. Even my own quiet pursuits of agricultural and professional life have not shielded me from such attacks. Beyond a momentary irritation they have not swerved me from my chosen course of unflinching adherence to duty and principle. And now it is truly gratifying to receive these spontaneous evidences of public confidence and personal regard from representative citizens, as you are, of the various townships, together with other similar solicitations from every section of the county. These manifestations are the more grateful to me, because, as you are well aware, I do not belong to the very numerous class of popularity-seekers and place-hunters—have never, as my friends know, pandered to popularity or to any of the fashionable shifts of selfish expediency—never have sought office or desired public station. In my honest and uniform efforts to improve the moral and intellectual tone of society and to elevate politics from the low plane of action of political parties since the war, I have preferred to be free and fearless, and at each step have been resisted by every phase of demagogism, and by every form and variety of illiberal and narrow-minded men and means. You have probably overrated my abilities, but you do not overestimate my unselfish devotion to our young county or the fondness of my affection for North Carolina. In my humble labors for improvement and reform, for material progress and educational advancement, my motives and objects have been unselfish and alone for the public good.

I am unable, gentlemen, to embark upon the stormy sea of political life. Professional obligations combine with other duties to myself and family in demanding that my time and attention should be given to other than political ends for myself and that my aspirations should not embrace the attractions and honors of legislative life. I am the more able to make these expressions of frankness and sincerity because there are so many good men and true in the county from whom a good selection can be made that no such sacrifice from me as you allude to is needed and no detriment to the county or to the public service can result from my unwillingness and inability to run for the Legislature. In deliberately deciding, as I now do, however, not to be a candidate nor to accept a nomination, I am not the less sensible of the compliment tendered nor less grateful to my friends for their confidence and attachment.

Again thanking you and those you represent, I remain, truly yours, &c.,

S. S. SATCHWELL.

A Financial Compromise.

World Washington Dispatch.

The bill of the House prohibiting the further curtailment of the legal-tender circulation is to be made the basis, it is understood, of a compromise in lieu of all other financial legislation of the session. This fact secured a favorable report to-day for the bill in the Finance Committeee of the Senate, and, it is said, it will be passed by the Senate just as it came from the House. This will probably defeat the bill for the repeal of the Resumption act, though the anti-Resumptionists would not be able in the absence even of other legislation to pass the repeal over a veto. How far Secretary Sherman is a party to this compromise is not fully known, though it is believed that he is not unwilling to have the legal-tender circulation remain at its present limit. He intimated this, it will be remembered, at his last conference with the Finance Committee. He regards the country now as on a resumption basis, and with his success in accumulating gold for resumption purposes, does not fear any injurious effect from any legislation fixing the greenback volume at its present limit. It therefore looks as if this bill would go to the President from the Senate and be signed by him.

Attitude of the Republicans.

New York Times.

Since the Potter movement assumed definite shape the Republicans who were in the habit of consigning the President to infamy on the ground that he profited by the corrupt action of confidential friends, have been silent. But no man can doubt that their declarations, their personal animosity, and their avowed belief that Mr. Hayes' title is fraudulent, encouraged the Blackburns and Springers of the Democracy in the course they have pursued. The same kind of partisan pressure which rendered moderate Democrats powerless in the hands of the revolutionists obliged a certain class of Republicans to oppose a measure which they had helped to strengthen and which in their hearts they hoped would be successful. The more Mr. Hayes is damaged the better they will be pleased. The more he suffers, short of actual impeachment or removal, the more importance their pretensions will acquire.

How Noyes Talked.

New York World.

Now that the smoke of the first headlong Republican resistance to Mr. Potter's resolution begins to clear away, sensible people begin to see that an investigation such as the World has demanded ever since it produced Senator Conkling on the stand, and such as intelligent Democrats now propose, is not revolutionary, but on the contrary is in the interest of peace and public order. The New Orleans Picayune declares that when Mr. Noyes, our Minister at Paris, was, "a visiting statesman" in that city he publicly asserted "that it made no difference whether or not the Returning Board should act fraudulently or corruptly, or arbitrarily or illegally: whether the Tilden electors or the Hayes electors received a majority of votes. All that was of consequence, in his opinion, was that the decision of the Returning Board should be sustained, whatever that decision might be."

The Nationals.

Philadelphia Times.

The action of the State committee of the National-Greenback-Labor party at Harrisburg yesterday adds still further to the complications of the coming campaign in Pennsylvania. Had the State Convention of the new factor in our politics acted as wisely two weeks ago as the State committee did yesterday, the weight and influence of the party would have been assured; but it didn't, and notwithstanding that Judge Agnew has been placed on the ticket, the strength of the Nationals is still an unknown quantity, the size of which, however, much depends upon the action of the Democrats at Pittsburg to-day. Judge Bentley's declination, couched as it is in such loyal terms to the cause he espoused in its infancy, will add to his popularity and is ample evidence that his course was dictated only by the highest motives.

Radical Wrath.

Washington Post.

Because Southern Congressmen voted to investigate fraud, we are assured by the Radical press that the South has forfeited all claim to "magnanimous treatment." The meaning of this, stripped of ambiguity, is that justice and equality are to be denied the South if the Radical party can get control of Congress; that the old system of bayonet rule is to be re-instated; that the right of the Southern people to manage their local affairs is to be again set at naught. It is well that this frank avowal comes early. On such an issue the people are already prepared to give their decision. They have had enough of military domination in civil affairs. The work of the canvass for Congressmen will be greatly simplified by keeping this declared purpose of the Radicals prominent.

SCIENCE AND THEOLOGY.

James Anthony Froude's Views on the Subject—The Clergy Accused of Unbelief--The Religion of the Future.

London Dispatch.

James Anthony Froude has transmitted his second paper on "Science and Theology" to the International Review, of New York, stating in substance that the modern nations of Europe, like the Greeks and Romans, founded their original policy on religion; but that the will of God has no longer a place, even by courtesy, in the statutes; that respectable people fight against the unwelcome truths in regard to Christianity thrust upon them; the clergy pray for deliverance from evils which they know depend upon natural causes, and the bishops themselves do not actually believe what they profess.

A NEW RELIGION COMING.

Mr. Froude asserts, however, that the message of science is not the last nor the highest, and that the time will come when the illusions which have overwhelmed religion shall have passed away; that a society without God in its heart cannot exist, and that when a new religion has established itself which men can act upon and fully believe, it should never be ruined by the extravagant pretensions of its founders and propagators.

Congressional Excursion to Paris.

Washington Telegram.

Arrrangements are now in progress for a Congressional excursion to the Paris Exposition by the State line steamers, the party to be composed chiefly of members of Congress, with such of their families as may desire to accompany them. It is said by those who have charge of the excursion that should Congress adjourn in time to enable the project to be carried out, it would be highly gratifying to the French people, who would appreciate the compliment of such a delegation from one republic to another.

Blaine Bewildered.

And now there comes a story from Washington that on Friday, just before the vote was taken on the Potter resolution, Senator Blaine remarked to a Republican Representative "that it was certainly a most novel and peculiar spectacle to see on the one side more than a hundred Democrats fighting solidly together for a purpose which at least half of them were opposed to at heart, and on the other side more than a hundred Republicans fighting as solidly against a thing which at least half of them secretly favored and hoped would succeed." Blaine is evidently conning Cousin Gail's lessons to advantage.

Grant for President.

New York World.

When our esteemed contemporary, the Sun, so furiously threatened the Southern Democrats with the wrath of the "old free States of the North," it doubtless little dreamed that it was nominating General Grant for the Presidency. But such was the fact nevertheless. The Trenton Gazette, in spasms of terror at the approach of the new Southern rebellion, rises equal to the occasion and demands a "return of the sternly just Administration of Ulysses S. Grant."

Fish Culture.

It is only three years since measures were taken to protect the salmon in the Delaware river and eggs were planted. Last week eight of these splendid fish were caught in the upper waters of the river, several have been caught just above the city, and yesterday one, which was found entangled in a shad seine near Gloucester, was served as a free lunch at a city restaurant. If it keeps on at this rate, in a few years salmon will be common on every poor man's table.

Seeking New Fields for Trade.

Baltimore Sun.

A number of wealthy merchants, mostly engaged in the wholesale coffee trade of New York, are making arrangements to trade with the Samoan Islands of the Pacific ocean, which now have diplomatic relations with this country. It is understood that several ships have already been sent out from New York within a short time, but the enterprise is as yet being kept as secret as possible.

Welcome Home.

New York Herald 22nd.

Cardinal McCloskey returned from Europe yesterday by the French line steamer Pereire, and, while there was no formal demonstration on his arrival, a large number of clergymen and friends were on the pier to tender him a heartfelt and earnest welcome. The Cardinal appeared to be in good health and expressed his satisfaction at being once again among his own people.

Bummer Bristow.

Washington Post.

Bristow has been resurrected again by a rural editor in Kentucky. Bristow is a good deal like the celebrated mule that was planted midway between the contending armies and dug up and re-interred until somebody bethought himself to leave a small but inglorious portion of his anatomy exposed. After that he rotted undisturbed.

Butler on Labor.

New York Times.

The General is very clear in his opinion that labor is badly treated. Labor, he complains, has not been subsidized or legislated for in any way. There have been no Government trains of free provisions for the relief of the poor, but trains of armed troops have been sent out to suppress the demonstrations of over-burdened labor.

Odd Conjunction.

New York World.

Two telegrams in the budget of the Associated Press stand in odd conjunction. One informs us of an explosion in the old Sydney "mines," and the other tells us that Senator Conkling still continues dumb.

A Bald-Face Lie.

Richmond Herald Dispatch.

A telegram from Asheville, N. C., reports that the story published in the Pioneer stating that Bald Mountain had been rent, and which was substantially telegraphed to the Herald last night, is a fabrication—a lie out of a whole mountain.

SATURDAY will be a pretty general day for county meetings throughout the State, many of the counties holding their Democratic conventions for legislative nominations.

THE steam wagon for transportation along the country roads is under discussion at the West, and some of the States are offering large premiums for inventions of practical utility. Steam on country roads will undoubtedly be demonstrated a practicability, and lead to better and smoother highways for general traffic.

THE Right Worthy Grand Lodge of Good Templars of the world meets at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday next. Dr. F. R. Lees, of England, Rev. Samuel Todd, D. D., of Scotland, Samuel Capper, of Wales, and Dr. Orouahyateka, of Canada, are among distinguished delegates from abroad. N. B. Broughton, delegate from North Carolina, left yesterday, will have a splendid trip and ably represent his order at this meeting in the far West.

The Supreme Court Reports.

It should have been stated in connection with the seventy-eighth volume of the reports in the News yesterday, that the notice was made from the advanced sheets, and that the Reports are not yet in the hands of the Secretary of State. The printer will begin their delivery tomorrow, and they will be promptly sent out, on order, from the office of the Secretary of State.

It is proper to say as much here in justice to that officer, to relieve him of any impression that might be entertained on the part of the legal profession that he was not promptly discharging his duty in the delivery of these books; an impression that, in this or any other matter respecting the public duties of the Secretary of State, would be most erroneous, for it may be very truthfully and properly stated, that at no time in the history of the State has the business of that office been more promptly or efficiently attended to, or more systematically managed than under the administration of Secretary Engelhard. If any complaints have ever lodged against his office they have not been publicly made known, and it is not believed that any ground for complaint could exist against an office where such painstaking system, order and industry are manifest as there.

The Southern Presbyterians.

The General Assembly is still in session at Knoxville. The appeal and complaint against the synod of Texas was the order for yesterday. The case of Dr. E. T. Baird against the synod of Virginia was reported, but the appellant failed to appear, and in view of his sickness the matter was temporarily tabled. The latest report says:—

Louisville, Kentucky, was chosen for the next meeting of the assembly. Reports were made on theological seminaries by committees and adopted. Reciprocal greetings, and salutations were forwarded to the M. E. conference, South, in session at Atlanta, and the Presbyterian assembly at Pittsburg.

The assembly voted down the proposition to formally elect each year permanent and stated clerks, and also entered a strong protest against what is commonly known as "lay evangelism."

Sound Democracy.

The platform of the Pennsylvania Democracy adopted at Pittsburg yesterday gives out no uncertain sound.

The Democracy of the old Keystone appreciates the emergencies of the hour and grapples the practical questions of the country with a firm and unswerving hand.

The Republican party receives merited rebuke, and is brought up to a terrible arraignment. Upon every vital issue the Pennsylvania Democracy takes position with the Democracy of the South and West, and there has not been a time within the last quarter of a century when the great Democratic party was so thoroughly united throughout the whole country as now.

The financial distress, misery and want that now exist, the impoverishment of the masses to enrich a few, monied monopolies and unequal taxation, class exemption and legislation, high rates of interest and grinding contraction, the destruction of enterprise and oppression of labor, fraud, perjury and forgery, unjust laws and immoral practices, the ruin of the people and the destruction of their substance, constitute in part the catalogue of crime laid at the door of the remorseless, unrelenting, rapacious Republican party.

The Pennsylvania Democrats declare that the only remedy and safety lies in an entire change of governmental policy and the dethronement of those now in power; demand that further contraction of the currency be not permitted; that greenbacks be received for all dues to the government; that the present national banking system tends to centralization; declares that labor and capital have equal rights and responsibilities under the government; and in respect to commerce, manufactures are to be encouraged; that labor may find steady employment and reap fair wages, and that violence or breaches of order in the interest or supposed rights of either shall be promptly suppressed by the strong arm of the law.

Upon such a platform the Democracy of no State need fear to go before the people, and on the live issues above presented, the Democracy of the Union cannot fail of national success in 1880.

The News has uniformly stood upon the platform of principles embodied in the declarations of the Pennsylvania Democrats; as the sole and only salvation of the country North and South. The longer the stagnation of business, and the universal distress of the people continues, the plainer is revealed the Republican party in all its hideous deformity. And so long as that party of malignant monstrosities and reeking crimes remains in power in the national government or any of the States, so long will misery, suffering and distress, everywhere and in all departments of business, and in every home of labor and industry prevail.

Realizing these things, brought face to face with the awful situation of the times to fully appreciate the wreck and ruin wrought by the Republican party, the people of no section of the country can long hesitate to consign that concern to the everlasting infamy the record of its practices proclaims, and which during its long lease of power it has so ignobly earned.

Taxing Drummers.

Some of the papers of the State are advocating a tax by the legislature of five hundred dollars on all non-resident commercial agents, commonly called drummers, and demanding in some instances that the matter be canvassed in the campaign, and candidates pledged to vote to impose such a tax.

Without having given the matter much consideration, the News is of the opinion that this is a subject in respect to which the view of the merchants and practical business men of the State should be ascertained before any attempted action is had in the direction of a prohibitory tax on the commercial men. And it may not be out of place for those who advocate the measure to submit a series of good reasons as the basis of an argument why such law should be enacted in our State.

It has been observed that when unadvised legislation is had touching any trade, calling or profession, that grave mistakes and serious injury have almost invariably been the result. Upon a matter of this sort, the merchants of North Carolina are the most competent to speak, and it is perhaps not going too far to say that they alone are fully qualified to speak on this subject. They, and they alone, are manifestly the parties interested, and to them the matter of permitting or prohibiting drummers should be left.

So far as the merchants abroad are concerned, it would be in their interest for all the States to enact prohibitory laws. The money expended by the large houses for drumming throughout the United States is put down in the aggregate at thirty millions, of which amount the South gets, at the very least, ten millions. It is not apparent that the cost of any article of merchandise is enhanced by reason of the drummer travelling to sell it; on the contrary, many articles, in consequence of the competition of the travelling men, are offered and sold in our home stores cheaper than the same could be bought if the merchant were himself in the Northern markets.

These things being so, and such is the experience of many merchants, if their statements are to be believed, it is not apparent why any one not a merchant especially should desire the prohibition of the drummers. If they sell goods by sample as cheaply, or cheaper sometimes, happen along just when a small lot in some line is wanted, and thus supply the goods to the convenience and accommodation of the merchant, saving him the expense and loss of time necessary to go North to recruit his stock, it would seem that the drummer is a public benefactor in a public way, and not an evil and a nuisance, to be legislated out of existence.

Let the merchants be heard from.

Our Mountain Country.

The News has heretofore spoken of the mountain section of North Carolina as a summer resort for health-seekers, tourists and pleasure hunters.

In directing frequent attention to Western North Carolina the object is to aid the development of that section of our State, and thereby benefit the whole State. We are engaged now, and have been for many years, endeavoring to open up that country by connection with the railway system of this and the other States, and although the work has progressed slowly, not at all satisfactorily, and often hopelessly, yet the work is going on, and must at no distant day reach a final completion.

The railroads already penetrate the mountains, and from four directions the tourist now reaches every portion of Western North Carolina with comparatively little trouble or inconvenience. The Tennessee roads reach the State line from that direction, the Charlotte and Atlanta Air Line takes one within a days ride, the Spartanburg and Asheville road has reached Henderson county, and the Western North Carolina is within a stage of Asheville. Connecting with all these are good stage lines that afford travellers a pleasant and interesting journey through the mountains. All the railroads have through ticket arrangements with the stage contractors, and for the Summer months round trip tickets are sold at a low rate of fare.

In the mountains, everywhere, is found beautiful scenery, good water and cheap living. Every variety of life may be enjoyed in the mountain country, from city to camp life, and almost every mineral water found in other States abounds in the mountains of our own, and such public attention should be often called to this section, that those of our people who are in the habit of seeking recreation in other States may be induced to try a tour in Western North Carolina, and thereby contribute to home development.

There is beginning to be manifest in Western North Carolina a spirit of enterprise, and an appreciation of their country that will surprise one accustomed to view that section and its people, so long cut off from the active world as to have shared none of the spirit of progress common to the age. This popular mistake is always corrected by a visit there, one finding a people as well up with the times as those of the more favored sections, and their towns and villages and country residences presenting the modern appearances, and containing the improvements that characterize the people of the middle and the lowlands.

The lines of transportation and the hotels and Summer places in the mountains are extensively advertising this season, showing that the spirit of enterprise is aroused in them, and when a people begin to invite company they are sure to fix up for receiving and entertaining. Weddin and Bailey, of the Western Stage line, have issued a neat illustrated circular advertising their lines and places of resort in the mountains, and Dr. Howerton, at Warm Springs, is in the field with his descriptive pamphlets and cards in the newspapers. There is welcome, preparation and attraction for all who desire to make a visit to our "land of the skies."

DAILY NEWS.

FRIDAY, ... MAY 24, 1878.

Weary.

Weary of living, so weary!
Longing to lie down and die,
To find for the sad heart, and dreary,
The ends of the pilgrimage nigh.

Weary, so weary of wishing,
For a form that is gone from my sight,
For a voice that is hushed to me ever,
For eyes that to me were so bright.

For a hand to be laid on my forehead;
A glimpse of the golden brown hair,
For a step that to me was sweet music,
And a brow that was noble and fair.

Weary, so weary of waiting,
Waiting for sympathy sweet,
For something to love and to love me,
And pleasures that are not so fleet.

Tired, so tired of drifting,
Adown the dark stream of life,
Tired of breasting the billows,
The billows of toils and strife.

Wishing and waiting, so sadly,
For love that was sweetest and best;
Willing to die, oh, so gladly,
If that would bring quiet and rest.

Where the Nationals Come In.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A considerable number of persons are engaged in arranging the next Presidency. It is, of course, a personal matter. The people at large are to have very little to say about it. The usual course is to be pursued. Candidates are being provided. They are not to be strangers. We are assured that Mr. Ulysses S. Grant and Gen. Samuel J. Tilden are to be the champions. Grant is to represent law and order; Tilden economy and reform. Grant is in training in Europe by those who think we need a MacMahon to save society. Tilden is being advertised by the American Congress. The most positive gentlemen that think Grant is to be the Republican leader are Democrats, and the most anxious supporters of Tilden as the Democratic candidate are Republicans. If the Democrats should succeed in nominating Grant for the Republicans, and the Republicans achieve Tilden for the Democrats, perhaps the time would prove propitious for the organization of that third party, of which we have heard so much and seen so little.

Look out for Showers.

New York Sun.

Hayes' visiting statesmen and confidential bargain makers may as well be spreading their umbrellas. It is going to be a good deal more of a shower than they have been counting for.

Out of Tune.

When the tones of a musical instrument become harsh and discordant, we say it is "out of tune." The same may be said of that far more wonderful and complicated piece of mechanism, the human structure, when it becomes disordered. Not only actual disease, but those far more common causes, overwork, mental anxiety, and fast living, may impair its vigor and activity. The best remedy for a partial collapse of the vital energies, from these as from other causes, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is at the same time an agreeable and mind cheering cordial, and the best possible invigorant in all cases of debility. It is an incomparable stomachic and anti-bilious medicine, eradicates fever and ague, and prevents subsequent attacks. It remedies with certainty and thoroughness bowel and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, nervousness, rheumatic troubles, and many other bodily ailments. It also counteracts influences which predispose to disease.

Better than Foreign Port.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is better than Imported Port, and since the adulteration of the latter, it must take its place. It is pure and really excellent and health giving.—Troy Times.

The most select 5th Avenue families use this wine at their evening entertainments.

Weather Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—For the South Atlantic States generally lower pressure; Easterly winds veering to southerly or Westerly; warmer weather, possibly occasional light rains will prevail.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——There is some complaint about a broken pump on Saunders street.

——The late gale blew down thousands of panels of fence in St. Mary's township.

——A beautiful night blooming "serious," at Pescud, Lee & Co's yesterday.

——The State treasururer has issued a drummers' license to Allen Paine, Son & Co., of Baltimore.

——A fine lot of pottery vases for decoration just received at Law's, and selling at from 50 to 60 cents a pair.

——Several couples of belligerents were on the war path yesterday, and indulged in some pugilistic exercises.

——Prof. Kerr will soon make a trip down the Cape Fear river, from Lockville to Wilmington, in a tin boat. The voyage will probably be an exciting one.

——A grand panorama, religious in its character, was exhibited on the streets yesterday. The affair was on wheels, and a peep at its glories cost the gazer 10 cents.

——We learn that the officers and teachers of the Sabbath School of the 1st Presbyterian Church at a meeting last night, decided to have a pic-nic, time and place to be fixed hereafter.

——It would seem that the reporters were rather taken in as to the story of the stealing of the turkey, and flight of the thieves after many pistol shots, one night this week. The entire affair is said to be a hoax.

——To-morrow there will be a grand Union Sunday School pic-nic, on the Neuse 2 miles from Goldsboro. The schools participating will be those of the Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches, of Goldsboro. It is a very pleasant plan to unite in enjoyment.

Court Notes.

The U. S. Circuit Court meets here the 6th of June. Judge Brooks and Bond will preside, assisted probably, it is thought, by Chief Justice Waite.

Our Supreme Court Term begins on the same day.

Water-Power.

We were struck by a remark that the Haw river was the Merrimac of North Carolina. On that stream the banks strung with factories; every few miles they are found. Within a distance of six miles from the R. R. bridge of the Central Railway are four cotton factories, In a few year there will a dozen.

The Late Storm.

Reports of the damage caused by the late washing rains continued to come in from various parts of the county. West of here no damage was done, the rainfall being slight, and accompanied by no wind. In all the Northern sections of the county the crops have undoubtedly suffered. In some places the wheat and oats have been entirely destroyed. Cotton has also been injured.

The Old North State Insurance Company.

Directing attention to the advertisement of this sterling fire insurance corporation, which may be found in another column, we can only say that no encomiums of ours are necessary. The reputation of the company for honesty and good management is above reproach. Insurers will do well to give the advertisement a perusal.

Personals.

W. H. Bailey, Esq., of Charlotte, has returned to his home in Charlotte, from Washington city, where he has been ill. His health is yet poor. He was of counsel in the great suit of McElwee vs. Blackwell, for the right to use the Durham bull trade mark on tobacco.

Gov. and Mrs. Vance are expected to return from their western tour this evening.

Judge D. M. Furches, of Statesville, is registered at the Yarbrough.

Back From Sparta.

Col. L. L. Polk, State Commissioner of Agriculture, returned yesterday from Sparta, Edgecombe county, where he delivered an address on agriculture to an audience of about twelve hundred persons. Rev. Wm. Grant, State Lecturer, also spoke. The crowd were very attentive. Many persons from Tarboro were present. The people take great interest in matters agricultural. In the evening there was a grand ball largely attended.

The African Expositor.

The first number of a paper bearing the above title has made its appearance. It is an eight page sheet. and is issued quarterly. The editors are Revs. H. M. Tupper, Augustus Shepard, Cæsar Johnson and G. W. Perry. It is devoted to the educational interests and advancement of the colored race in our State. It is filled principally, with contributions from leading colored men in the State. The appearance of the paper is very creditable.

A Runaway Caught

Not long since Maj. J. P. H. Russ took from the county work-house several negroes, whom he put at work on his farm, agreeing to pay the county for their labor. One of these negroes, James Patterson, a half-witted fellow, ran away some weeks ago, and was not heard of until yesterday, when he was nabbed on the streets. He was put in jail and then taken out to the work-house. One of the conditions of his being thus farmed out was that if he ran away he should serve out double time of imprisonment. He will therefore linger there all the longer, after his brief liberty.

The Pic-nic at Milburnie.

The Scholars of the Sabbath School of the Church of the Good Shepherd held their pic-nic at Milburnie yesterday. Nature was kind, the day was most propitious. The sky o'er cast with not forbidding clouds, admitted no glaring sunbeams while the temperature was delightfully cool.

At 8 a. m. the scholars left the Parish School room, in rear of Rectory, The party were under the special care and charge of their beloved pastor, Rev. Edward R. Rich, Rector, assisted by Mr. David Anderson, Marshal. The conveyances, busses, carriages, and wagons started off, freighted each with a load of merry passengers. The trip of six miles, to the Neuse, was made safely. On arrival there the vehicles were deserted by their occupants, who roved at will the shady groves on the banks of the river. There were no exercises or ceremonies of any sort, everything being pleasantly informal. Games of all kinds were played. Dancing to the sound of good music was indulged in by all, both old and young. At the appointed hour an abundant repast was provided for every one. The day's pleasures were not marred by any unpleasant occurrences, and late in the afternoon the joyous participants came home, making Fayetteville street resound with their cheers and laughter, as the long train of vehicles dashed along it.

To all those in charge of the affair the utmost praise is due for their good management and many kindnesses.

Agricultural Notes--Grasshoppers.

Prof. W. C. Kerr, State Geologist, has just returned from a visit to Haw river. Upon our making some inquiries as to the condition of the crops in that section, he informed us that the wheat was in fine order until the late cold snap. Now it is badly smitten with rust. The expectations of a magnificent crop are much diminished. The wheat stalks are weak and many will not head out. The blades are covered with the rust.

Clover is growing finely, but the people have had a visitation of that dreaded pest of the far West, the regular red-legged grasshopper.

So we now divide the honors with Kansas. These insects are devouring all the clover, and touch no other vegetation, strange to say. A large portion of this crop has already been entirely destroyed. Mr. D. W. Kerr, the famous raiser of magnificent cattle for market, and whose fine beeves are sometimes brought here, is the owner of many pastures of clover. His principal field of this, containing about 50 acres, has been utterly consumed. These grasshoppers are large, and the real article.

In St. Mary's township, this county, the farmers report that the cotton is dying rapidly, and many are now replanting. Seed are in great demand, being scarce. Owing to the continued cold and wet the worms have gotten into the young corn and are cutting it down badly.

Wake Criminal Court.

State vs. Isaac Dewey; larceny; verdict, not guilty.

State vs. John R. Caswell and Mary Pope; affray; guilty. Judgment $5 fine each, and costs.

State vs. Wm. Dunn. Larceny. Guilty. Fine one penny and costs.

State vs. Alfred Whitaker and Ben Lipscomb. Nol pros. as to Lipscomb. At time of going to press the jury had not returned a verdict, as to Whitaker.

Court adjourned until to-day at 10 a. m.

Christman's Cotton Cultivator.

This celebrated cotton plow, the invention and manufacture of Mr. R. D. Christman, of Eagle Rock, is now on exhibition in this city. Parties interested in improved agricultural implements, and especially those of home invention and production, are invited to call and see the Christman Cultivator at work in the field of B. Y. Rogers, Esq., on the South East boundary of the city. Mr. Rogers tested the plow fully yesterday in the presence of a number of our well known citizens and farmers, and all unite in saying that it is superior to anything that has yet been offered in the way of a cotton plow. Remember it will be at work on the premises of Mr. Rogers until noon to-day.

B. CRAVEN.

The Government Building.

Work has not been resumed upon this structure, which stands in marble whiteness, a monument to semebody's shortcomings. Our people have been so accustomed to inconvenience of every kind that they bear their griefs with composure. And now we go in and out of the present apology for a post office, while the building near by, so suitable, so near completion, stands silent and unoccupied. No one can say when work on it will begin. Cannot something be done. Let us use all manner of petitions, &c., so that this object be attained.

The Fish Commission.

Maj. J. P. H. Russ is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Wm. Russ, his son, dated at Aberden, Miss. Willie says he has just reached that point, having brought 150,000 shad fry from Havre de Grace, Md., a distance of 1100 miles. The young fish were transported with almost no loss. Among the fry were two cans, which had been successfully hatched by means of steam, an entirely new process. This is the first attempt at hatching by steam that has ever proved successful. The first so hatched were specially intrusted to his care by Prof. Milner.

The healthy growth of the baby is dependent upon its freedom from the pernicious effects of opium. Dr. Bull's Baby syrup is the best remedy known for the diseases of early childhood. Price 25 cents.

THE GROWLERY.

The Way Out of the Difficulty.

After due deliberation and contemplation of the vexed question of city affairs, now so unpleasantly conspicuous, we catch at last a slender ray of light, a clue to show us a way out of the trouble. It is this: Abolish the office of Chief of Police and Street Commissioner. Let the Mayor, who certainly is not now at all overworked, and has an infinite amount of leisure, act as Chief of Police. Increase his salary reasonably, if thought proper. The duties of the Street Commissioner may be assumed by some one who will take a contract to attend to our thoroughfares properly, bids for such contracts being made, and submitted to a committee competent to judge of the matter.

No taxpayer can offer objections to this plan. The last one of all to object to such a plan would be

TRUE BLUE.

The How and the Wherefore.

If, as some of these virtuous growlers suggest in reference to Mr. Blake, that the relationship of an Alderman to an aspirant to office is sufficient to account for his Aldermanic action, and that old man Bill Andrews was the moving inspiration of the bonds proposed by Mr. Blake for Chief of Police and Street Commissioner, then we have it,—both the inwardness and the outwardness of the Aldermanic muddle.

The course of reasoning adopted leads to the inevitable conclusion that the Simon-pure six had stocked the cards on the unsuspecting, but refractory five; for, lo! and behold, one of the six had a father aspiring for Street Commissioner, and the other a brother-in-law who wanted to be Chief of Police.

Now if one man kicks up all this fuss, by himself, because he has an uncle, what cannot and will not two men, putting their heads together in a board, do for a father and brother-in-law?

Just as sure as fate, if human nature is what it is represented to be on the Andrews-Blake side, then the Hardie-Price-Osborn-Osborn crowd went to the extent of a combination, pushing that to the extremity of self-preservation,—that of doing one's level best for his kin.

But this is unworthy of gentlemen, and of an intelligent, decent public to entertain. Of course Mr. Hardie wanted the success of his brother-in-law, and Mr. Osborn desired that of his father; but they are not to be charged with underhand, doubtful or disreputable conduct in the attainment of such ends.

As for Alderman Blake, he did not oppose any one on account of any relation of his. He did not vote for his uncle Bill. (Nobody ever heard old man Bill Andrews designated as William or "uncle William," until the other day.) Mr. Blake distinctly declared that he would not vote for his uncle, unless he should receive the nomination without the aid of his influence and vote.

And this is about what there is in it.

CITY.

P. S.—Had the other four good and unquestioned Democrats of the Board, who stand with Mr. Blake, each an "uncle William?"

Attention Democrats.

The qualified Democratic voters of Raleigh Township," will meet at Metropolitan Hall at 12 o'clock M. on Saturday, May 25th, 1878, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention, also to attend the County Nominating Convention when called. Every Democratic voter in the township is expected to attend.

By order of the Township Democratic Committee.

Enterprise.

Yesterday Messrs. Julius Lowis & Co., of this city, sold, to be shipped to South Carolina, two hundred kegs blasting powder. This we call enterprise, selling this powder, coming as they did in competition with the different powder mills of the country. Messrs. Lewis & Co. are agents for the Laflin & Rand celebrated Orange gun and blasting powders. They always have on hand in their magazine, several hundred kegs of these celebrated powders.

Aldermanic.

The Board of Aldermen meets to-night. They will probably adjourn in a few moments after assembling, as is now the custom. A republican member of the Board was heard to say that the six rads would soon be able to run things, believing that the rest of the members would give a practical illustration, on a large scale, of the touching story of the Kilkenny cats.

For the Penitentiary.

Deputy Sheriff R. B. Blackledge, of Craven county, on yesterday delivered to the authorities at the State Penitentiary, Robert Lee, the colored boy who was convicted of burglary, and sentenced to be hanged, but whose sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life.

Something Worth Attention.

Consigners of county produce should ship to A. C. Sanders & Co., because they are the only commission merchants in Raleigh. They do not buy at all on their own account, but make prompt returns, at the same prices they sell at, which are the highest this market affords. *

Chances For Bargains.

As a place where the best of good bargains may be made by both farmers and city people, we cordially recommend the establishment of Mr. W. A. Myatt, on Martin street. In the store may be found all the various things requisite and necessary in the way of farm supplies and groceries of all kinds.

Attention.

All the members of the Junior Debating Society are earnestly requested to be present at the regular weekly meeting to-night, at 8 o'clock promptly. An unusually good subject is open for discussion, and a lively time is expected. G. H. GORMAN, Sec'y.

Governor Vance.

Pee Dee Herald:

But it is to the great question of the United States Senatorship that the most interest attaches, and we have no reason to change or modify the statement heretofore made in these columns that the people of the Pee Dee section are so nearly unanimous for Governor Vance that the man who would oppose him, however influential and popular otherwise, could hope for nothing at their hands. So be it. If ever a man deserved promotion and reward at the hands of the people, Governor Vance deserves them now, and the ingratitude and injustice which would mark the withholding of them cannot attach to or be tolerated by our people.

Railroad Meeting.

Greensboro Patriot.

The Railroad meeting at the Court House Monday night was largely attended. Remarks were made by Messrs C. G. Yates, C. P. Mendenhall, and D. W. C. Benbow. At the close of the meeting further remarks were made by D. F. Caldwell. A resolution was passed almost unanimously to submit a proposition to the voters of the city to levy a tax $5,000 annually for three years to provide for the convicts at work on the road and the authorities will be called upon to submit the question to the voters.

A Legislative Hand Book.

Tarboro Southerner.

A good grindstone to hold the noses of legislative aspirants to.

Make them promise—

1. To oblige railroads to cease their high local tariff rates.

2. To protect sheep by taxing worthless curs and mangy bench-legged fices of mutton proclivities.

3. Tax drummers at least $500.

4. Save the timber and protect the pockets of farmers by giving us a 'no fence around crops' law.

Republicanism.

Winston Sentinel.

If there is one thing the Republican party is more noted for than committing frauds, it is their efforts to prevent an investigation of them. The people know they have been swindled by the Republican party, and they want the swindle exposed.
